

THE HAYTI HERALD

VOL. 6.

HAYTI, MISSOURI, THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1914.

NO. 25.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce the following candidates, subject to the primary election, August 4, 1914.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET. County Ticket.

For Representative:
VON MAYES.

For Prosecuting Attorney:
WM. W. McELVAIN.
C. E. BRAGG.

For Circuit Clerk:
JOHN PARKS.

EDWIN S. HUFFMAN.

For County Court Clerk:
J. ALBERT BIGHAM.

For County Collector:
CHAS. R. PIERCE.

For Probate Judge, Pemiscot Co.
J. M. BRASHER.

For Presiding Judge, Pemiscot Co.
CHAS. W. SHIELDS.
W. ASA GREEN.

For Associate Judge 1st District:
J. M. BALL.

For Justice of the Peace, Hayti Township:
ED. GOECHER.
E. M. GWIN.
W. W. TARRINGTON.

For Constable, Hayti Township:
W. F. COOK.
TOM CURTNER.

For Constable, Concord Township:
R. D. SANDERS.

Judge Asa Green.

W. Asa Green announces this week for re-election to the office of presiding judge, subject to the will of the democratic voters at the primary election.

Judge Green is so well known throughout Pemiscot county and the people are so well acquainted with his official acts that there is little for us to say. He and his associate judges have conducted the affairs of our county through the most stormy and turbulent times ever known in our county, and now that peace and quietude is settling down, Judge Green feels that he should be afforded another term in office to share the more pleasant things that are to come.

Von Mayes, receiver of the Citizens Bank, informs us that the depositors no doubt will be paid in full as soon as the outstanding indebtedness of the bank is collected.

J. E. Meddling, a business manager of Dexter, was a visitor of L. Wagner, in this city, Wednesday.

Constable Bob Sanders of Concord was in this city Wednesday.

The only way to get the genuine New Home Sewing Machine is to buy the machine with the name NEW HOME on the arm and in the legs. This machine is warranted for all time. No other like it. No other as good. The New Home Sewing Machine Company, ORANGE, MASS.

MALAYS NOT OF ONE RACE

Common Error, But Travelers Know That It Has No Foundation in Fact.

Take the Java Malay, be he Javanese, Soudanese or Madourese. Watch him climb a coconut palm; in less than no time he is at the top of the smooth trunk, fifty or sixty feet in height. Notice him in the street, squatting—his toes, like those of a monkey, prominent—on the edge of a step or pavement, note his sinuous movements! Is he not a man of nature all over? All the aboriginal inhabitants of the Malay archipelago are Malays, but in Java alone you find the calm, quiet Soudanese of West Java, the true Javanese of Middle Java—a much finer race—and the treacherous Madourese of Madouira and East Java. It is therefore evident that to talk about "Malays" is really incorrect. Anthropologically only is it really correct to term all these peoples Malays; one would not think of terming all white people Aryans. The term "Malay" merely refers to one of the great families of mankind. The Malay men folk, taking them as a whole, do not make as near so good an impression as their women. Contrary to what they really are, they look puny; they are also short, have shifty eyes, a broad nose, perhaps a mustache, seldom a beard; they are lazy, untrustworthy, will harbor revenge for years, are usually ugly. Being Moslems, they all wear a head covering, made of colored linen. The lower classes wear this carelessly, although the Malays of higher standing are very careful in arranging it, which they do very ingeniously. It looks incongruous to see a Malay with a "totee," or helmet, above his usual head covering; nevertheless, this is general. A pair of cotton pants, a shirt, and a girdle of printed cloth, called a "sarong," form the average Malay's garb, and he is seldom without his "kris," or dagger-like knife.—T. P.'s Weekly, London.

WOULD BE OF GREAT VALUE

Idea for a Laboratory of Safety Devices Has Been Put Forward by Employers of Labor.

Why not have a laboratory of safety devices is the question asked by many manufacturers who have been giving honest attention to the subject of preserving the health and physical well-being of their employees. With the many safety devices already offered, the average manufacturer is somewhat in the dark as to the appliances which best could benefit his business.

With this idea in view, it is proposed that a staff of competent engineers be appointed whose sole duty it shall be to test the numerous appliances offered and decide whether they are fitted to the various industries they represent.

Fire prevention naturally would prove one of the biggest subjects to be taken under consideration. Many inventions have to do with hoses, doors, shutters, etc., and under present conditions the only way for a factory owner to determine their value is to put them to a test—those tests oftentimes being made under conditions where a great loss in human life results.

A Useful Dunce.

During the Civil war, General Sedgwick had on his staff a very dull lieutenant, who seemed never to be able to do anything without making mistakes. One day a friend asked the general:

"Why do you keep Jones on your staff? He seems a perfect dunce."
"Do you know," replied General Sedgwick, "Jones is one of the most useful members of my staff? Before I issue an order, I always have Jones read it. If he can tell what it means, I am sure there can be no chance that anyone will misunderstand it."—Youth's Companion.

Keats a Great Poet.

One of the highest of authorities declares the "Ode to a Nightingale" to be "one of the final masterpieces of human work in all time and for all ages." The same high authority refers to the odes to "Autumn" and to the "Grecian Urn" as being unequalled and unrivaled, the "triumphant accomplishment of the very utmost beauty possible to human words." In Keats' larger poems are passages that approach very near to poetic perfection. Keats died at twenty-six. And yet he lived long enough to have written some of the finest things in literature.

Georgia Invasion.

"It's been the dream of the old man's life to see Wash-ton," said the Billville matron, "an' now he's a-goin' thar, an' I'm a-goin' with him. 'I won't be unknown thar,' he says, 'fer I've been a member of six Georgia legislatures, an' any one of 'em could beat congress a-rasin' of the place whar Satan lives at an' a-doin' of nuthin'! But what we want to see most is the place whar they make the money, an' find out how come an' why we don't git our share of it."—Atlanta Constitution.

HAYTI SIXTEEN YEARS AGO.

From the files of the Newspaper, published by York Bros., Friday, April 29, 1898.

The attendance at our Sunday school is steadily increasing, which shows that interest is being taken in our churches. [That is an interesting item, and true. It is strange and it is not strange, that there was more interest taken in the churches of Hayti 16 years ago than there is today, a hundred per cent more according to the population, and the churches built then are a true, but sad monument to that fact. There are good people in our churches here today, but the devil has so many representatives in the churches that no further progress can be made until they are weeded out. That is the trouble. It isn't the saloons; we had them 16 years ago; it isn't the lack of the enforcement of the law; the law is far better now than then, as any old citizen who was here and remembers those times, will testify. There is but one thing to it, and that is the old chronic hypocrites in the church, who are doing the damage and are responsible for most of the unhappy conditions in this town. A good warning might be had here if the real christians care to take it.—Ed.]

Bob Ingersoll said: We have been extremely patient in shooting Spain into decency and honor. Suppose the Maine had been a British, German, French or Russian battleship! Why, sir, Moro Castle would long since been reduced to dust in an hour's bombardment, and the flag of their country would be flying over the heads of a lot of dead bull fighters and Spanish cut throats. The act of Congress giving Uncle Sam $50,000,000 ungrudgingly and unanimously to avenge, if need be, our 258 dead sailors of the Maine and to maintain our national honor, was a beautiful evidence of the patriotism that exists in the land. The stars and stripes must be upheld and protected forever. [And yet what Ingersoll said then applies today with more force to Mexico than it did then to Spain. The Mexicans have been torturing our citizens and murdering them in unknown numbers for years, and have dragged the stars and stripes through the muddy streets of every city in that republic. Can mediation settle this?—Ed.]

EDITORIAL: We are an united nation. Thirty years has drawn the cloak of kindness over all that was once bitterness and hate. The sons of the men who fought for the stars and stripes are now beating foot falls with

Mean Insinuation.

She was a plump widow with two charming daughters. She had been a "relie" just a year, and was beginning to wear her "weeds" lightly. All the same when the new curate called upon her she sighed:
"Ah, I feel the loss of my poor, dear husband very much. I never have any appetite for anything now."
The curate was all sympathy, and in the endeavor to cheer her by pointing out what a comfort to her her daughters must be, replied:
"I can quite understand that, but you are so laced in—"
"S-l-a-c-e!" interrupted the indignant lady, "allow me to inform you that I am not laced in at all!"

Lloyds.

The earliest reference to the famous underwriters' association known as Lloyds appears about the year 1688, in the London Gazette. This great commercial establishment had its origin in a "coffee house" kept by one Edward Lloyd, in Tower street, London, where certain merchants were in the habit of meeting for gossip or business. In 1692 Lloyd moved to Lombard street, where he virtually began the business which is now so well known all over the world under his name.

the sons of those who bore aloft the stars and the bars. [Sixteen years later and still that editorial rings just as true.—Ed.]

EDITORIAL: Sam Jones and Governor Bob Taylor are still sparring at each other. The other day Sam said: Bob would be a better governor if he had less in his heart and more in his head. Bob retorted by saying that Sam would be a better preacher if he had less in his head and more in his heart. This is a stand off—"hoss and hoss."

Cards are out announcing the marriage of J. F. Davault of this place, and Miss Hattie A. Royal of Pulaski, Ill., on Wednesday, May 4th, at the home of the bride's parents. [Mr. and Mrs. Davault are now, and have been for some ten years, in the State of Washington, where it is said Mr. Davault has become a multi-millionaire speculating in lands.—Ed.]

CARLETON CORRESPONDENT: Mr. C. W. Frick took charge of his Sunday school class Sunday. There are seventy-one names on our record. We also have thirty-eight scholars in our singing class. [How is the Carleton Sunday school showing up according to their record of sixteen years ago?—Ed.]

John Parks, Jr., paid this office a call Saturday. [That was before John ever was a banker, before he ever got tangled up in politics, and we believe before he was 21. John always had high aspirations, and we sized him up then as a young man who would make rapid progress in the world.—Ed.]

Dr. Hayes was very much fatigued from the coon hunt he took Tuesday night. But he had good luck and captured a nine pound girl for Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Braggadocio Correspondent: The honest toilers are busy trying to raise a little more 5-cent cotton (lint) and 20-cent corn, saying we must work while our brave soldiers fight.

Huff Hayes and family moved from the star hotel to their new residence on Carmine street, the first of the week.

The Missouri mule is rallying to the flag. His voice, all along, has been for war.

L. C. Averill was out from Gayoso Sunday and placed his name on our honor roll.

George Faircloth of Braggadocio was here Tuesday.

Want Simple English. "Yes," said the earnest professor, "what we want in literature is direct and simple English."

The listeners gravely nodded. "Direct and simple," they echoed. "Those conglomerated effusions of vapid intellects," the professor went on, "which posed in lamentable attitudes as the emotional and intellectual ingredients of fictional realism fall far short of the obvious requirements of contemporary demands and violate the traditional methods of the transcendent minds of the Elizabethan era of glorious memory. Plain and simple English is the demand of the hour." Whereupon everybody applauded and went home.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lead Balls Do Not Rebound. Make two equal balls of lead, shoot them about on a billiard table, and you will observe some actions that seem extraordinary. In the first place, if they strike each other head on they come to a dead stop; they do not rebound, for lead has no elasticity. If they strike each other at an angle the result is what is called a "couple;" the balls rotate around each other for a part of one turn, and each moves off in a straight line tangent to the circle in which they are moving.

OYSTER NOT GOOD FOR ALL

Many Stomachs to Which It Is Not a Welcome Visitor, According to Physician.

It is popularly supposed that the oyster digests himself in the human stomach owing to the great size of the liver, which is crushed as mastication begins and is thought to digest the mollusk itself. As the oyster, moreover, contains some ten per cent. of extremely assimilable protein, together with phosphorized fats and glycogen, it has always been freely administered to convalescents, while dyspeptic boys vivants have never hesitated to eat it abundantly.

Doctor Pron expresses the opinion that the oyster may be allowed, therefore, to those dyspeptics whose gastric functions are deficient. In anorexia, gastric atony, ulcer and incipient cancer, and to convalescents from acute disease, as it is likely to improve the appetite and to excite the stomach to increased motor and chemical activity.

But to the large number of dyspeptics whose stomachs are hyperacid or hypersensitive Doctor Pron would forbid the oyster as well as all other stimulating foods. In many of these dyspeptics the gastric secretion is already sufficient, and it is unnecessary and unwise to increase it.

CHAS. R. PIERCE.

Chas. R. Pierce announces this week for re-election to the office of collector.

The people have long been talking about "the man," and Mr. Pierce has conducted his office in such an efficient way that no one can attack him. This is one of the most important offices in the county, and he has kept his books and affairs right up to the minute, and no one can show cause why he should not be elected for another term.

Mr. Pierce stands before the people upon the record he has made as a faithful public servant.

Gasoline 14 1-2c per Gal.

Standard Oil Co., crown gasoline, delivered at your home, 14 1/2 cents per gallon. Coal oil, steam and gas engine oil, kerosene oil, compression grease, at proportionate prices. Chas. Morgan, Agent, Hayti, Mo. 25tf

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

You can get the benefit of a store like ours even if you do live at some distance. Uncle Sam, through the parcel post, will bring what you wish to your door.

If you're in need of something for immediate wear and are unable to come to the store, drop us a card, or telephone. We'll ship what you want on approval the same day.

You may know we carry a complete line of clothes here; you ought to have a chance to get them, no matter where you are. This service gives you that opportunity. You ought to take advantage of it, for it means more satisfaction at less cost.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

Write or call us today; you'll like this service.

MUSGRAVE & MASON

Caruthersville, Missouri

The Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Good Clothes